'Out In All Weathers'

I walked in the city
Under a pale sky
I walked in the city
Birds flying high

I see leaves dancing up and down
And dark windows
No one's around

I never thought that I'd be old without you
Just like you do
Those clouds move slowly on
The greys turn to blue
The wind blows

I never thought that I'd be old without you
I never thought that I'd be so cold without you

The days drag on
The clearing skies mean harder ground
But the chill in the air stays
And the days drag on

I never thought that I'd be old without you
I never thought that I'd be so cold without you

I've stepped out alone
And walked for miles
I've stepped out in sadness
I've stepped out in joy
I've been scorched and I've been shivering
And I've been soaked through
I've been out in all weathers
Searching for you

I never thought that I'd be so cold
I never thought that I'd be so old
Without you
